

Welcome to bathing with raw nature

You are probably curious about the concept of a wood-fired hot tub, as sadly most of us haven't indulged in this ancient Japanese* relaxation practice too often (*just guessing the Japanese started it).

It's basically a natural bath with a view. No gas or electricity, just nature at her best.

And because an Ember Hot Tub can be relocated so easily (1 person can pack it into 1 car in 1 hour with 0 tools!), you have flexibility to combine your favourite scenery with your new favourite bath. Many people even take their tub with them on holiday!

How it works

To get the picture, imagine you're taking your bathtub out of your bathroom and placing it in whichever tranquil location you dream of!

Fill with water >> Light a fire >> After 3 hours the tub will be toasty >> Relax, bathe and wash until you're a shrivelled up prune >> Drain the water as necessary for hygiene and safety
