Postural & Body Splints

Our Postural and Body Splints are custom made to fit each individual and is constructed of layers of stretch fabric to give a directional line of pull at the pelvis, trunk, and shoulders, together with moulded flexible plastic boning to provide additional structural support as required.

All Postural and Body Splints include our standard growth expansion panels so they can be adjusted for growth or weight change over the life of the splint.

Hand & Upper Limb Splints

Our upper limb splints are custom made to fit each individual and are constructed of layers of stretch fabric to give a directional line of pull, with the option of moulded flexible plastic boning to provide additional structural support as required. Our upper limb splints can be worn in combination or by themselves.

Some upper limb splints also include the option of a block or cone to assist with keeping the hand, wrist or elbow to the required degree of extension.

Lower Limb Splints

Our Dynamic Foot Splints are custom made to fit the individual and are constructed of layers of stretch fabric to give a directional line of pull, together with additional ankle support as required.

Our Lower Limb Sleeping Splints are a comfortable splint designed to improve hip and thigh positioning overnight. These splints are prescribed to limit discomfort and pain associated with hip and pelvic postures.
